

Harp of the Heart

A nature themed area with hydroponic gardening activity that calms your mind, surrounded by lush greeneries with classical music projection that is proven to be the most thereapeutic music for Bonny method music therapy; four exploration rooms playing different music genres: jazz, pop, rock and classical, to capture different plant growths studies; relaxing reading area under the sound bath of soothing music

Song of the Soul

Using water as the main feature, the soothing sounds of flowing water by the glass water fountains act as semi-private partitions for yoga activities on the right side and hammock for resting on the left side. Aside from the water sounds, bamboo are planted in between the spaces, together with the inviting ceiling feature to create an welcoming ambience. for visitors to have a short getaway from the hustle and bustle life

Interactive Zones

The most eye-catching design feature would be the humongous wind chimes installation that allows fun interactions by pushing the windcatcher panel, connected to the clapper that creates the deep and calming sounds of the tubes as they collide with each other. Meanwhile, visitors can also hear the xylophone sounds surrounding the area as visitors play with the xylophones along the ramp's railing using a mallet

Deja Vu

Exhibition of nature related imageries calms the visitors down with sound bath of parabolic speakers and mics to record positive affirmations and played back selectively in the speakers

Frequency Capsule

In corresponds with Healing Chakras, musical performances are performed in these soundproof auditoriums

Soothe & Suit

After a long journey of exploring soothing sounds on the ground floor, visitors can find some light refreshments with savouring taste of wine and beverages on the first floor as soon as they come up from the ramp. Family seats are located on opposite wings of the main bar countertop that caters for individual seats too. Here you are able to dine in peacefully with the sounds of glass rims clanking and simple pleasures of eating